Morning Murli Om Shanti

BapDada

Madhuban

Essence: Sweet children, never miss this study that the Father teaches you every day. Only when you study this study will the doubts within you be removed.

Question: What is the way to win the Father's heart?

Answer: In order to win the Father's heart, never hide anything from Him for as long as the confluence age lasts. Pay full attention to your character. If you have performed any sinful acts, tell the imperishable Surgeon and you will become light. The Father's mercy, His good wishes and His blessings are the teachings that He gives you. Therefore, instead of asking the Father for mercy, have mercy on yourselves. Make such effort that you win the Father's heart.

Om shanti. You spiritual children now know that there is happiness in that new world and sorrow in this old world. At the time of sorrow, everyone experiences sorrow, and at the time of happiness, everyone experiences happiness. There is no name or trace of sorrow in the land of happiness and there is no name or trace of happiness where there is sorrow. Wherever there is sin, there can be no name or trace of charity and where there is charity, there can be no name or trace of sin. Which places are these? One is the golden age and the other is the iron age. This should definitely be in the intellects of you children. The time of sorrow is now coming to an end and you are making preparations to go to the golden age. We are now about to leave this dirty, impure world and go across to the golden age, that is, to the kingdom of Rama. There is happiness in that new world and sorrow in this old world. It isn't that the One who gives you happiness also causes you sorrow; no. Happiness is given by the Father and sorrow is caused by Maya, Ravan. Effigies of that enemy are burnt every year. It is effigies of someone who causes sorrow that are always burnt. You children understand that when his kingdom finishes, it will finish for all time. It is the five vices that cause sorrow for everyone from the time they begin through the middle to the end of them. Although you are sitting here, it is in your intellects that you want to go to Baba. You would not call Ravan your Father. Have you ever heard anyone calling Ravan, "The Supreme Father, the Supreme Soul"? Not at all! Some people think that Ravan inhabited Lanka. The Father says: This whole world is the island of Lanka. People say that Vasco da Gama went around the world in a steamer or a boat. Aeroplanes etc. didn't exist at the time that he went around the world. Trains too used to run on steam. Electricity is something else. The Father now says: There is only one world; it changes from new to old and old to new. It is incorrect to say that there is first establishment, then sustenance and then destruction. It is correct to say that there is first establishment, then destruction and then sustenance. The sustenance you are given by Ravan takes place much later. That is false sustenance through which you become impure and vicious. By taking that sustenance everyone experiences sorrow. The Father never causes sorrow for anyone. Because everyone here is tamopradhan, they say that the Father is omnipresent. Just look what they have become! You children should keep these things in your intellects as you walk and move around. This is very easy; it is simply a matter of Alpha. People of Islam also say that you should wake up early in the morning and remember Allah. They themselves wake up early in the morning. They say, "Remember Allah" or "Khuda" (God), whereas you say, "Remember the Father". The word "Baba" is very sweet. You wouldn't remember your inheritance by saying "Allah", whereas, by saying, "Baba" you remember your inheritance. People of Islam do not say Father. They speak of Allah, the Lord. People speak of husband and wife. All of these words exist in Bharat. When the people of Bharat say, "The Supreme Father, the Supreme Soul", they remember a Shiva lingam. Europeans speak of God, the Father, but the people of Bharat even consider pebbles and stones to be God. Shiva lingams too are made of stone. They think that God is sitting in that stone and so when they remember God, an image of that stone appears in front of them. They consider that stone to be God and worship it. Where do such stones come from? They are brought down from the mountains by the streams and made smooth and round by the water. It becomes a symbol naturally. The statues of the deities are not like that. Sculptors carve statues out of stone with beautiful ears, mouths, noses, eyes etc. They spend a lot of money. However, there is no question of expense, etc. for an image of Shiv Baba. You children understand that you yourselves are now becoming deities in living forms. You are not worshipped whilst you are in living forms. People worship stone when they become those with stone intellects. You are worthy of worship when you are in your living forms. Afterwards, you become worshippers. There are neither any worshippers nor any images of stone in the golden age. There is no need for them there. Stone images are kept as memorials of those who existed in living forms. You now know what the life stories of those deities were. They are to be repeated once again. Previously, when you didn't have your third eye of knowledge, it was as though your intellects were stone. The knowledge that you all receive from the Father is the same, but you all take it numberwise. Therefore, the rosary of Rudra (souls) is created according to how much each of you imbibes. One rosary is of Rudra and the other is the rosary of Runda (human beings). One is of brothers (souls) and the other is of brothers and sisters. It is now in your intellects that all of you souls are just like tiny dots. There is a song that says: A wonderful star sparkles in the centre of the forehead. You souls now understand that you souls are living beings, that each of you is like a small star. The body of a soul that enters a womb is at first very small and then it grows larger. Souls continue to play their imperishable parts through their bodies. Then, everyone starts remembering bodies. It is bodies that attract everyone because they are either good or bad. In the golden age, you don't have to tell anyone to become soul conscious or to consider themselves to be souls. It is now that you are given this knowledge because you know that souls are now impure. Because they are impure, whatever acts they perform are wrong. The Father inspires you to act correctly whereas Maya makes you act wrongly. The most incorrect act is to call the Father omnipresent. The part that each soul plays is imperishable. You souls are never burnt. You are worshipped. Your bodies are burnt. When a soul leaves his body, that soul enters another body, and the old body is burnt. A body without a soul cannot be kept for even two to four days. However, some bodies are preserved with chemicals, etc. What benefit is there in that? Christians say of Saint Xavier that his body is still preserved. It is as though there is a temple to him there. The only part of him that they show is his foot. They say that anyone who touches his foot will never become ill. If they feel relief from their illness after touching his foot, they believe that that is his mercy. The Father says: They receive the return of their faith. Some do take benefit due to the faith that their intellects have. However, if it really were like that, great crowds would go there and there would be a great gathering. The Father has come here, but there still isn't a big crowd. There isn't enough space for everyone anyway. When it is the time for many to come, destruction will take place. This too is fixed in the drama. This drama has no beginning or end. Yes, the tree does reach a state of total decay, that is, it becomes tamopradhan. Therefore, it then has to be changed. This tree is unlimited. Those who have to go into the first number will go down first. Everyone has to go down, numberwise. Not everyone in the sun dynasty can come down together. Not even everyone in the moon dynasty can go down together. They will go down, numberwise, according to their place in the rosary. How could all the actors come onto the stage together? The whole play would be spoilt. This play is very accurate; there cannot be the slightest change in it. Sweetest children, when you sit here, your intellects should only retain these things. In other satsangs, they keep all sorts of things in their intellects. Here, there is only this one study through which you can earn your income. You earn no income from studying those scriptures etc. Yes, you can imbibe some good virtues. It isn't that all those who sit and read the Granth (Sikh scripture) are viceless. The Father says: Everyone in this world is created through corruption. Many people ask you children how babies will take birth there. Tell them: The five vices do not exist there. Children are born through the power of yoga. They have a vision beforehand of the child that is going to take birth. There is no question of vice there. Here, Maya even makes some of you children fall. Some do come and tell the Father. Because some do not tell Him, they have to experience one hundred-fold punishment. The Father tells all of you children that if you ever perform sinful acts, you must immediately tell the Father. The Father is the imperishable Herbalist. By telling the Surgeon what you have done, you will become light. You must not hide anything from the Father during the whole of the confluence age. If anyone hides anything, he will not be able to win the Father's heart. Everything depends on the efforts you make. If someone doesn't go to school, how could his character be reformed? At present, everyone's character is bad. The vice of lust is the foremost bad character. This is why the Father says: Children, the vice of lust is your greatest enemy. Previously, I too used to listen to the Gita, but I wasn't able to understand everything. The Father is now giving you this knowledge of the Gita directly. The Father has now given you children divine intellects. When you remember what you used to do in devotion, you laugh. The Father now gives you teachings; there is no question of blessings or mercy in this. You have to have mercy and blessings on yourselves. The Father inspires each of you children to make effort. Some of you do make effort and win the Father's heart. Some even die whilst making effort. The Father gives the same teachings to all of you children. Sometimes, such deep points emerge that all their previous doubts are removed and they become alert again. This is why you must never miss Baba's study. The main thing is to have remembrance of the Father. You also have to imbibe divine virtues. If someone speaks to you about dirty things, then simply hear, but do not hear. Hear no evil! In order to claim a high status, you definitely do have to tolerate fame and defamation, regard and disregard, happiness and sorrow, victory and defeat. The Father gives you so many methods. Nevertheless, it is as though some children listen to the Father but hear nothing of what He says. Therefore, what status will they receive? The Father says: Until you become bodiless, you will continue to be hurt by Maya in one way or another. If you do not listen to the Father, it means that you have disregard for the Father. In spite of that, the Father still says: Children, may you remain constantly alive and conscious and remember the Father and claim a high status. Achcha.

To you sweetest, beloved, long-lost and now-found children, love, remembrance and good morning from the Mother, the Father, BapDada. The spiritual Father says namaste to you spiritual children.

Essence for dharna:

1. If anyone tells you any wrong things, hear but do not hear. Hear no evil! You have to tolerate everything: happiness and sorrow, victory and defeat, regard and disregard.
2. Never have disregard for the Father by ignoring what He says. In order to be saved from being hurt by Maya, definitely practise remaining in the bodiless stage.

Blessing: May you become a master bestower and be as merciful as the Father by forgiving everyone and giving them love.

Just as the Father is said to be merciful, in the same way, you children are also "master merciful". Only those who are merciful can benefit others and forgive those who cause them harm. They are master oceans of love and they have nothing but love. At present, there is an even greater need for love than wealth. Therefore, become master bestowers and continue to give everyone love. Let no one go away empty-handed.

Slogan: When you desire to become an intense effort-maker, where there is a desire, you will definitely find a way.

 Om Shanti *****
